The situation at the war map of Ukraine has not changed dramatically since our latest Notification dd. 29.03.2022. Ukraine has regained control over much of the Northern territory and forced the Russian aggressor to retreat to the borders of Russia.

All Ukrainian ports are still closed for inward/outward passages.

Regardless of the scenario of further military actions in the area of the Black Sea Ports, the restoration of navigation remains doubtful, as there is a large number of mines and the location of many of them is unknown.

Update dd. 25.03.2022

We have received a number of queries concerning the announcement of the Russian Federation on opening the humanitarian corridors for foreign ships staying in the Ukrainian ports. In our opinion, this information cannot be trusted.

In addition, as we know, the Russians mined 5 water areas of the Black Sea, some of the mines were torn from mounts, so it is not known where/in which part of the sea they are now located. Also, we do not rule out the fact that Russian ships will either fire on or seize foreign ships.

We will wait for the official notification of the Ukrainian authorities about the opening of ports as well as confirmation of the corridor.
